

Urthel Ales

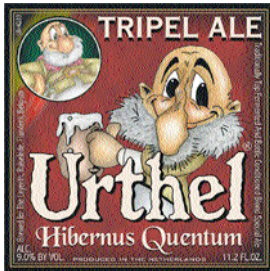

Brewed By Hildegard

Hildegard and Bas

The wife and husband team of Hildegard and Bas van Ostaden have been seeing tiny men in the forest around their house in Belgian Flanders for some time. These little men, called Erthels, are long-lived (up to 275 years!) prodigious drinkers and tremendously loyal, only drinking one brand of beer: Urthel.

The elaborate story surrounding Urthel is the work of husband Bas, an artist and storyteller who happens to hold marketing and business degrees. He's created an entire universe for the Erthels, but it all hinges on their love for Urthel, a Belgian specialty ale of the highest quality. Hildegard, the brewer of Urthel, used to teach brewing at a local school and has served as a consultant to the Dutch brewery La Trappe, so her credentials are sparkling.
